Bo Sherman Named New Head Coach

Director of Men's Activities Max Farrington announced last week that Eugene Hughes Sherman, Line Coach at the University the past four years, had been elevated to the position of Head Coach to replace Bo Rowland, who resigned to take an employees relations position with the Reynolds Metal Company of Richmond.

During his tour at George Washington, Rowland won 15 of the 37 games on his schedules, including victories over Georgetown and Virginia, teams that had not felt the sting of a Colonial win in more than 50 years of grid relations. His drawling Arkansas voice made him a favorite of private and civic clubs, which he often served as guest speaker.

Coach Sherman

One of the most popular figures ever to serve the University family, Sherman was selected to succeed Rowland by President Cloyd Heck Marvin, Director Farrington, and the Faculty Committee on Athletics. "for his loyal and effective service during the past four years." The Committee is composed of Drs. Burnice H. Jarman, Mitchell Dreese and Ralph Kennedy. Immediately upon accepting, the new mentor declared that he would retain the present staff of assistants as well as continue with the Spit-T formation, newly installed during spring drills.

Just before joining the Academic Procession for Commencement Exercises, (l-r), Brig. General Don C. Faith (ret.), lecturer in Psychology; Miss Mary M. Connelly, LL.B. '22; President Marvin; and Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo, LL.B. '29, have an informal discussion.

A Ph.D. degree was awarded General Faith, while Miss Connelly and Dr. Nervo each received an Alumni Achievement Award from President Marvin on behalf of the General Alumni Association.

Receptions and Awards Fill Senior Week Program

President Gives Party For Grads

Climaxing Commencement Week activities was the reception and dance given by President Cloyd H. Marvin and Mrs. Marvin to honor the graduating class.

The graduates and their parents chatted informally with members of the faculty and administrative officers of the University in the Mayflower's Grand Ballroom while President and Mrs. Marvin received from 8:30 until 10:30 in the Chinese Room. The University Marshal, Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, stood in the receiving line to introduce guests to the President and Mrs. Marvin.

Light refreshments and dancing, including a large group performance of the Mexican hat dance, lent gaiety to the party.

Earlier that same evening, the University's 86 new physicians gathered at the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, where Dean Walter A. Bloedorn of the School of Medicine administered the Oath of Hippocrates at special Pre-Commencement Ceremonies.

Dr. Thomas M. Peery, professor of pathology, counseled these graduates to observe the Golden Rule and drew an analogy between the life of the physician and the life of the pilgrim in "Pilgrim's Progress."

At this ceremony Dr. Allan Hugh Stewart of Mount Shasta City, Calif., was named first winner of the Oscar Benwood Hunter Award in Pathology and received a check for $100.

The award was made by the University's Medical Society from a trust fund of $5000 established by the society. It memorializes the life of Dr. Oscar B. Hunter, who died this winter, and who was formerly a member of the University faculty and president of its Medical Society.

Alums Retain Two Trustees

• DR. CHARLES STANLEY WHITE, retired professor of surgery in the University School of Medicine and former president of the D. C. Medical Society, and Watson Davis, director of "Science Service" and editor of the "Science News Letter," have been re-elected to the Board of Trustees of the University on nomination of its alumni. The nominations of Dr. White and Mr. Davis, both University graduates, were approved by the Board at its annual meeting on May 15.

This is the third three-year term for Dr. White and the second for Mr. Davis.

The following charter trustees were re-elected by the University trustees for three-year terms: John S. Brookes, Jr., attorney; Homer Cummings, attorney and former U. S. Attorney General; Robert V. Fleming, president of Riggs National Bank and Chairman of the University Board of Trustees; Charles C. Glover, Jr., vice president, Riggs National Bank; U. S. Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson; James E. Webb, former Undersecretary of State and president of the Sperry Corp., and Dr. Alexander Wetmore, retiring secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

Mr. Fleming was re-elected chairman of the Board, Colonel Henry P. Erwin, secretary, and Newell Ellison, assistant secretary.

Graduate Dean Visits Germany

Letters from Dr. Robert W. Bolwell, Chairman of the Graduate Council, express enthusiasm for his visit to the University of Goettingen in Germany, where he is on sabbatical leave, introducing American Thought and Culture studies into the curriculum.

To his secretary, Miss Loretta M. Payne, Dr. Bolwell wrote, "My second week of teaching has finished. My lectures go even better. I get between 70 and 100 students. The students are even more responsive, telling me how they enjoy the material and asking questions after class."

In describing an off-campus meeting, he said, "A dozen students were invited by the professor in charge of the Englishes seminar. They talked about everything—chiefly America—expressed opinions and gave information without the usual deference to the professor habitual in the classroom or in the office. I wish some of my American students could see this sort of 'bull session.'"

Dr. and Mrs. Bolwell have been entertained frequently by the faculty members. He said, "We have more teas scheduled and our social calendar is going to be filled through our stay. Tea is scarce and expensive, and so are the rich chocolate cakes and tarts they spread for us."

I SWEAR BY APOLLO—The University's 86 new physicians took the age-old Oath of Hippocrates at Pre-Commencement Exercises held in the auditorium of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia. The oath embodies a code of medical ethics.

Archer Leads Pep Group

• THE COLONIAL BOOSTERS are stressing the importance of student membership for the coming year, with expansion of the many advantages already offered. Pep rallies, half-time entertainment, house decorations, and cavalcades to out-of-town games are planned, with the program extended into the Spring.

Now a strongly running organization, the Boosters' Fall program planning is under the leadership of Glen Archer.

The Board also announces the following officers and committee chairmen: Doris Severe remains in the position of secretary; Ruth Warren succeeds Viola Andolfatto as treasurer; Carolyn Wood will be Special Projects chairman, and Carlene Parker, publicity director. The membership campaign is headed by Mike Kitsoulis, the Booster Section by Hal Mesirov, and half-time transportation by Bill Smith and Beverley Bicknell. Bob Buzzell is in charge of the Pep Rally committee, and Lyn Henderson, half-time entertainment.

Medical Follies Foster New Fund

Five students presented a check to start a Medical School Student Loan Fund to Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn, dean of the School of Medicine, here on May 16.

The check for $531.26 represented returns from the Medical School Follies performance held in April at the National Press Club.

Med Grads

Dr. Stewart was honored for scholastic attainments in pathology, clinical pathological conference, clinical microscopy, and his grade in the pathology portion of the National Board Examinations. Dr. Robert J. Brennan of Arlington, Va., received the Kane-King Society's award for making highest grades in obstetrics during his four-year medical course.

During the Baccalaureate service at Washington Cathedral the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., Dean of the Cathedral, told graduates, "We are made in God's image" and given "a sacred sort of dignity that resists being pigeonholed."

The service was conducted by the Rev. Canon Charles Martin, Headmaster of St. Albans School. President Marvin read the Scripture from Ephesians, Chapter 6. Music was by the University Glee Club and Richard W. Dirksen, assistant Cathedral organist.

By BRUCE JANSSEN

THE OUTSTANDING MEMORY retained from my all-too-brief visit to Winchester, Virginia, as a Princess in the Annual Apple Blossom Festival, is that of having a wonderful time! From the moment I arrived, as a member of the Court, representing The George Washington University, to the time I left as Bruce Janssen, my time was well occupied with Festival rehearsals, visiting historic spots, and meeting people which all added up to a very pleasant over-all experience.

I will try to describe some of the most significant events, starting with our arrival. We were greeted at the bus depot by seven or eight local women who volunteered as "chaperons" for the task of showing us around and making us feel at home. After a brief interlude of getting settled in the George Washington Hotel, all the Princesses were whisked away to Handley Bowl, where we spent a gay three hours rehearsing for the Festival.

We returned to the Hotel in time to eat supper in the Princesses' dining room, and change our clothes for an informal party in one of the local homes, where, incidentally, we met our escorts for the remainder of the week. They were mostly boys from the University of Virginia and Washington and Lee.

Thursday morning after breakfast, we were treated to a tour of the fabulous Apple Orchards several miles beyond the city and very much in bloom. A barrage of photographers greeted us there, making us feel very important, and very much like queens as they snapped our pictures and asked us questions.

Pageant Impressions

Thursday, I was very impressed with a Historical pageant, "The Harvest of the Years," which is performed annually by students of Handley High School, assisted by their parents and teachers, who help plan the program and costumes.

Fireworks extravaganzas were held afterward, and concluded with a parade two hours long. Those of us who preferred viewing this to grabbing forty winks of

Kuhn's Work In Art Show

The University Library Art Exhibit for June features two mini-shows of the American Federation of Arts, it is announced by John Russell Mason, Librarian and Curator of Art of the University. The exhibit will run through June 30.

The exhibit consists of paintings by Walt Kuhn and by the Associated American Artists Group, including works by Edward Millman, Doris Lee, Lilly Harmon, Sigmund Menkes, George Grosz, Arnold Blanch and Nicolai Cikovsky.

Walt Kuhn (1880-1949) was born on the New York waterfront and reared in a cosmopolitan atmosphere of importers, news men and sailors.

On his own at an early age, he worked at odd jobs, hobnobbed with theater people, and went to art school at night. Later he cartooned for a San Francisco newspaper and then studied abroad where he learned from the old masters. His early style showed the influence of his European studies but by the mid-1920's he had established his own.

Later he painted scores of clowns, acrobats, burlesque queens and drum majorettes in a distinctive, monumental style based on Cezanne and a feeling for Greek archaic sculpture.

This is the final exhibit of the fourth season of art shows in the University Library. Mr. Mason has announced that art works from the University's permanent collection will be on exhibit during July, August and September.

Profs Vary Activities During Summer Months

• TALENTS of professors at the University are in demand during the traditional vacation months with some traveling long miles to engage in special work.

Dean Martin A. Mason of the School of Engineering is spending six weeks at the Port of Chittagong, East Pakistan, as special advisor to the Pakistan Government on development of its facilities.

Prof. Alan Thomas Deibert, professor of Romance languages and adviser to students from foreign countries, is touring British summer schools as honorary adviser for British schools to the British Ministry of Education. He will suggest courses and activities which might appeal to American students who attend such sessions in future years. Professor Deibert also will visit universities in Belgium, France, and the Netherlands.

Prof. Arlin Rex Johnson, professor of public administration, will speak on county relationships at the annual convention of the National Association of County Officials in San Antonio, Texas. He will speak in his capacity as managing editor of "The County Officer," journal of the Association which represents 3051 counties. Professor Johnson will also visit his daughter in California and will inspect the Monterey California Graduate School of the Navy Department. Professor Johnson is director of the Navy's graduate program at the University.

An exhibit prepared by Dr. Samuel M. Dodek, assistant clinical professor of obstetrics and gynecology, was shown last month at the Eighth Congress of International Surgeons in Madrid, Spain. The exhibit shows results of recordings of uterine contractions during labor which bear out clinical impressions that anesthetics and pain relieving medications used do not retard the process of labor. A technicolor film produced by Dr. Dodek also was shown at the Madrid meeting.

Eight members of the faculty were last month made honorary fellows of the Howard F. Kane-A.F.A. King Obstetrical Society. They were: Drs. John Parks, Radford Brown, Jacob Kotz, Henry Laurant Darnier, Herbert P. Ramsey, George Nordlinger, Laurence Lee Cockerille, and Samuel M. Dodek.

Council Names Homecoming Co-Directors

ROBERT BUZZELL and Nell Weaver were named co-directors of the 1952 Homecoming Committee at the first Student Council meeting on June 5. No definite date has been scheduled for the Homecoming activities but the directors hope to set a date for early in November.

It was also announced that Maxine Saurel will edit the Freshman Handbook, assisted by George Buckmaster. The handbook will be published early in September and will carry advertisements which will be sold by the members of Alpha Theta Nu, scholarship holders honorary. Anyone who is interested in working on the handbook is asked to get in touch with the editors or leave his name in the Student Activities Office.

The Council is urging all organizations who wish to have closed dates for their functions during the 1952-53 school year to leave the information with the date desired in the Student Activities Office or the Student Council Office by August 1. This information is needed for the Student Activities Calendar which is printed for the use of University students.

Dance Group Hold Special Workshop

• UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WHO are interested in Dance will have an opportunity to study Ballet and Modern Dance Composition throughout this month. A special workshop conducted by the members of the Dance Production Groups will provide instruction for both beginning and advanced students.

Under the management of Joan Higginson, classes will be held from 7:15 to 9:15 on Monday and Wednesday evenings. During the first hour, beginning, intermediate, and advanced Ballet will be taught by Milica Haslova, assisted by Lillemor Spitzer. Claudia Chapline will teach Modern Dance Composition in the second hour.

As academic credit is not given for this workshop course, students will pay only a $3.00 fee. Additional information may be obtained in Building J on Monday and Wednesday evenings between the hours of 6:30 and 9:15.

Education Staff To Hold Picnics

• DR. JAMES H. Fox, dean of the School of Education, announces a picnic for Summer School students and faculty in education. The picnic, which will be a family affair, is planned for Wednesday, July 9 from 4 to 9 p.m., at Palisades Park. Entertainment will include a relay baseball game.

Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary for men, will hold a steak fry on Tuesday July 29 from 4 to 9 p.m., at Palisades.

• SENATOR KILGORE (D., W. Va.) took time out from a hearing on Capitol Hill to come over and congratulate his son, Robert M. Kilgore, who received a Bachelor of Laws degree.

Commencement

The Graduate Council awarded Doctor of Philosophy degrees to Gen. Don Carlos Faith, Director of Veterans Education of the University; Paul Louis Illg, formerly a University Biology Instructor; John Wallace McCalley, and Theodore Peter Perros.

A Doctor of Education degree was conferred on Grover LaMarr Angel, Assistant Director of the Off-Campus Division of the College of General Studies.

The Rev. Paul William Stoutzenberger, a former student of the University, offered the invocation and gave the benediction.

In his charge Dr. Marvin told the graduates "... that ultimately confusion and wars will not mark our day. Rather our day will be known for the creation of means to free our belief in human power.

"The cause is so simple and so clear, and so universally desired that present confusion cannot long continue, whatever political barriers there may be. Confusion is not of the Democratic way, understanding is. In understanding, men will elevate life by conscious and purposeful endeavor ..."

'Fruitful Accomplishment'

Mr. Robert V. Fleming, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University, presented a Citation to President Marvin as a testimonial from the Board, honoring his 25th year as President.

The Board cited Dr. Marvin "for his fruitful accomplishments during a quarter of century of service as the President of the University ..."

"He has met the challenge of the times and the demands of a growing University with skill, with vigor and with dedication. His monument is the University of today and the greater University of tomorrow."

In accepting the citation Dr. Marvin said, "This scroll is inscribed with but one name when it should have upon it your names as well. The leadership of our University is the composite of the insight, strength, and action of the hearts and minds of our members."

Co-Eds Hostess To Sigma Chi

• MARGIE COLE of George Washington and Marlita Scott of Maryland, chapter sweethearts, will be co-hostesses for the 49th Grand Chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity to be held at the Shoreham Hotel beginning June 19.

This gathering of the fraternity's alumni and actives from all parts of the nation is expected to be the largest in Sigma Chi's history. Smokers, a boat excursion to Mount Vernon, literary exercises, the Grand Sweetheart Ball on Friday night, and the Grand Chapter Banquet on Saturday will augment the usual schedule of business meetings and sightseeing. John Wayne, popular movie hero, will crown the National Sweetheart at the ball following her selection from three finalists by a panel of prominent alumni.

Pi Alpha Sigma Honors Dean Doyle With PanAm Medal

Dr. Henry Grattan Doyle, Professor of Romance Languages and Dean of the Columbian College of the University, recently received an honorary medal from Pi Alpha Sigma, an international relations fraternity at St. Johns College, Brooklyn.

The Pi Alpha Sigma Award is presented annually. The inscription on the medal presented to Dean Doyle read: "in recognition of his outstanding work in the field of Pan Americanism." Recipient of the Award last year was Senor Don Hector David Castro, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of El Salvador.

Recognized as an outstanding leader in the field of modern language methodology, Dean Doyle has written several books on language teaching. He has been Director of the Washington International Training Center, editor of the "Modern Language Journal" and editor of "Hispania." In 1938 he was decorated with the Order of Merit of Ecuador.

As a representative of the Modern Language Association, Dean Doyle served on the National Commission for UNESCO. He is a member of the Overseers' Committee of Romance Languages at Harvard. The University of Delaware has invited him this fall, as a "visiting scholar," to hold discussions with small groups of students and faculty members.

Prof. Colby Tours Abroad

Visiting news centers and publication offices in Europe will be the summer task of Professor Elbridge Colby, executive officer of the Department of Journalism, in place of fishing, swimming, and tree clearing at his summer home in Vermont.

Accompanying Professor Robert W. Desmond of the University of California, he will leave New York on June 30th and return there on September 12th, absorbing journalism during the summer, instead of teaching it to students. Some of his activities scheduled are: a session at the Press Institute in Amsterdam, a visit to the offices of the Associated Press in Brussels and the Het Laatste Nieuws, a seminar at the University of Paris and visits to newspapers and press agencies there.

Also planned are a seminar at the new International Press Institute in Zurich with a visit to the Neue Zürcher Zeitung, a news seminar in Frankfurt, a visit to the Hamburger Abendblatt in Hamburg, a call at the Copenhagen Berlingske Tidende where he will meet Mr. Carl Anderson, editor of the Social-Demokraten with whom he conferred here last winter.

He will go to Sweden, where his son and three grandchildren are living, and visit the Dagens Nyheter, Sweden's largest newspaper, to renew an acquaintance with its city editor. In London there is scheduled a seminar in the Kemsley Editorial Plan—the new and initial British school of journalism—and visits to leading London papers.

The annual Spring highlight took place over Memorial Day weekend when the club completed a successful three-day excursion to Gunston Cove. Lorenz Schrenk had the distinction of sailing the first tempest-class boat to reach the Cove.

As many G. W. Skippers as possible will participate in the Fairhaven (Md.) Regatta on Chesapeake Bay over the weekend of the 21st and 22nd. Suzan Vernon will entertain the club members at her family's summer Fairhaven home during the two-day contest.

The Sailing Association has its boat house and ten tempest-class sailing dingies at Buzzard's Point, located at the foot of First St., S. W. During the evenings and over all weekends, the members do their sailing and keep the boats "ship-shape."

All students enrolled in the University are welcome to join. Those who are interested may leave their name and address in the Sailing Club office, Room 211 of the Student Union annex.

Dr. Tupper Heads Committee Making Fall Drama Plans

UNDER THE SUPERVISION of Dr. Tupper, professor of English at the University, three committees are working to return an active drama program to the University.

The three groups, a Faculty Committee, a Community Advisory Committee, and a Student Committee, have already decided tentatively to have three shows next year, and have discussed the possibility of coordinating the shows with the dance group productions.

The Faculty committee, headed by Dr. Tupper, consists of Mr. Klein, Mr. Leggett, Miss Mowry, and Miss Burtner. This committee, acting on the advice of the other two groups, will actually formulate the drama program.

The Community Advisory Committee is made up of well-known people of the local area with an interest in drama. Jay Carmody and Richard Coe, two Washington drama critics, are members of this committee. Other members are: Zelda Fichandler, Director of the Arena Theater; Ernie Schier, Times-Herald drama critic; Jim O'Neill, Daily News drama critic; Milo Christensen, Director of the D. C. Recreation Department; and Ludwig Caminita, Alumni Representative.

The Student Committee is made up of representatives from major campus activities. They are George Sengstack and Warren Hull of the Student Council; Barbara Benner, president of Panhellenic; Thomas Grady, president of Interfraternity Council; Nancy McCoach, Hatchet; and Maida Yates, president of the University Players.

Rebel Queens GWU Guests On City Tour

LYNN HENDERSON, Sweetheart of the Air Force ROTC at the University, was official hostess for two visiting Carolina beauty queens during Commencement Week.

Florence Huxford, "Miss Charleston, S. C.," and Barbara Fowler, "Queen Azalea XII," arrived in Washington from Charleston on May 26. Miss Huxford was hostess to Lynn when she represented Washington at the 13th Annual Azalea Festival on April 30 in Charleston. Miss Fowler is a senior at the University of South Carolina.

A grand tour of Washington, arranged by the Board of Trade, started off the gala round of activities for the queens. They had lunch on Capitol Hill with Representatives Rivers and Riley of South Carolina.

The queens and their dates were guests of the University at the President's Reception in the Mayflower Hotel for the Graduating Classes. Their escorts were arranged by Miss Henderson. The following day, Mrs. Lois Simpson, of the University Public Relations Office entertained them at a luncheon at the Tally-ho Restaurant. Other guests were Miss Virginia Kirkbride and Nell Weaver.

He congratulated the entire Board on the results of their work in the past year, especially noting the fine job done by Miss Hoffheins after she unexpectedly took over the chairmanship just before school started last fall.

Regular meetings, to which everyone is invited, will be held at 8:15 each Sunday evening in the parish house of St. John's Church, Lafayette Square. This month's speakers will include Mr. Wilfred A. Invitations are extended to people of all faiths to participate in the Canterbury Club's summer program.

New Coach

Recognized nationally as an outstanding line coach, Bo Sherman has been considered a miracle man by most Colonial fans because of his ability to develop representative lines from an assortment of candidates ranging from 165-pound backfield prospects to the usual collegiate 200-pounders. This year his talents will receive additional stress and strain because he must rebuild the entire backfield as well as portions of his line. Bino Barreira is the only regular returning from last year's fancy backfield that boasted Andy Davis, Bob Cilento plus wingbacks Ken Belliveau and Lou Ciarrocca.

What does he know about backfield play? Well, historians from the state of Arkansas can tell you that Sherman is the only man in the nation holding down two spots on an alltime all-state team . . . at tackle and fullback.

Sherman's college career started at Henderson College in Arkansas where he starred at fullback and tackle under Rowland before becoming the latter's assistant in 1930. When Rowland moved to Ouachita College in 1931, Sherman took over as head coach at Henderson and turned out excellent elevens through 1934. Though only 22 years old when he replaced his former coach, he won the state grid championship three times at Henderson.

Following coaching tours at Arkansas A. & M. and Nashville (Ark.) High School, he rejoined Rowland as line coach at The Citadel and remained until entering service in 1943. Following World War II, he rejoined Rowland at Oklahoma City University and moved with him to George Washington four years ago.

Law Profs Visit

Dean O. S. Colclough of the University's Law School has announced the appointment of four visiting law school faculty members.

They are Associate Professor Wylie H. Davis of the University of Arkansas Law School, who will teach Criminal Law; Professor Russell R. Reno, Professor Eugene F. Scoles, and Professor Frederick W. Whiteside.

Graduation Takes Toll

Happy after their graduation, Andy Davis (l) and Dave Shiver (r), University football stars, exchange congratulations. They received Bachelor of Science degrees in Physical Education, as did Bud Goglin, outstanding in basketball, and Bob Cilento, outstanding in baseball and football.

• THOUGH graduation usually is associated with pleasantries, Coaches Bo Sherman, Bill Reinhart and Bill Shreve would find it difficult to concur in this opinion after watching the recent annual commencement exercises held in the University yard.

Tennis, basketball, football and baseball will be affected by the loss of seven outstanding athletes who earned bachelor degrees at the exercises on May 23.

Coach Shreve will have a tough time replacing Ted Edelschien and Hal Sloot, whose lobs and volleys kept the Colonials in many a tennis match. Each received a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Bachelor of Science in Physical Education was conferred on football stars Andy Davis, Bobby Cilento, Dave Shiver and Bill Shaw, plus basketball captain Bud Goglin, all key men in the University's athletic plans for the past four seasons. Cilento also will be missed at his shortstop slot, where he earned All-Southern Conference honors for three straight years.

Assistant grid mentor Ray Hanken also hit the degree circuit when he received a Masters in Education.

High School Grads Enroll

Local high school graduates will enroll for summer courses in a Special Eight-Week Session to begin Monday (June 16). The Session is being offered for the first time in response to requests from graduating seniors, according to Dr. B. H. Jarman, Director of the Summer Sessions. High school seniors have been able to take little advantage of the accelerated summer sessions because of the early opening date of the First Session.

Classes will be offered in freshman English, Spanish, Speech, American History and Analytic Geometry during morning and early afternoon hours. Students may register for a total of nine credit hours. The second half of each course will be offered during the Fall Term.

For purposes of Selective Service the Session will be considered the beginning of the freshman year. The Universal Military Training and Service Act requires that full-time first-year college students who are doing satisfactory work in their courses must be deferred until the end of their academic year. The end of the academic year for students who begin college this summer will be about February 1, 1953. Further deferment depends on a student's college record.

Registration will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday in the Office of the Registrar.

sleep before the Dance, found it spectacularly worthwhile. That evening we were again whisked off to a dance, this time to the Queen's Ball in the National Guard Armory where Louis Prima provided music.

Queen's Luncheon

On Friday we were entertained at a Queen's Luncheon, held in the former home of Daniel Morgan, a revolutionary hero. The Festival Pageant on Friday was climaxed by a parade led by a huge float featuring Queen "Honey Bear," and followed by two floats containing 36 princesses.

The Princesses' Blossom Ball held Friday night, also at the Armory, with the music of Tommy Tucker, ended the festivities of our eventful four days. I miss the girls I met, as well as some of the wonderful people from Winchester. Next year's Apple Blossom Princess will be very lucky and I know she couldn't have a finer time than I did.

Kany, editor of the Washington news report for the local bureau of the Associated Press, will direct student instruction and laboratory-field work in what will be called Reporting of National Affairs.
